3.2 Afghanistan Transporters

A number of cargo trucking transporters are available locally. Afghanistan's postal and package services such as FedEx, DHL and others make deliveries to major cities and towns. Newer automobiles have recently become more widely available after the rebuilding of roads and highways. As of 2012, vehicles older than 10 years have been banned from being imported into the country contributing positively for the increase of road worthy vehicles.

Challenges:

Due to security situation certain areas are not reached by the all transporters. In some cases a transhipment of cargo to local trucks might be needed.
Remote locations located in mountainous areas are not reachable by average commercial trucks.
During summertime mainly in South region trucks availability can be scarce due to seasonal fruit harvest.
