3.5 Dominican Republic Food and Additional Suppliers

The Dominican Republic has a variety of large food suppliers and also NFI, in the food part we can highlight that most suppliers import around 60% of the merchandise they place on the market, so the variety that we can find in the products is highly diversified. In the same way it stands out that reaching long-term agreements is complicated since suppliers fear freezing prices for long periods due to the inflation that is affecting the economy at a globalized level.
